FROM THE DIRECTOR'S DESK

An up date on the MCoR convention for 2019 to be held here in Wichita. Rod and I went to some of the hotels in town and looked them over to find one we liked. We will know more of what we need after the convention in Aims, IA and keep you up to date.

Thank You
Phil

FROM THE SUPERINTENDENT'S DESK

As we enter the 2nd quarter of the year, we have been busy working on the early parts of the convention, and are making plans to bring back an activity we have done in the past. This quarter is a mix of new and old. Coming up in May, Bob Neill will make a presentation on building paper buildings for your layout. Myself and Phil made preliminary visits to the Hotels that put in bids for the convention. In May, many from our group are heading to Aimes, Iowa to our regional convention. Phil and I will meet with the new Convention Chief while there.

Rob Neises
Superintendent - 2017
Chisholm Trail Division
of NMRA

In June we are bringing back the bbq in Halstead at Phil's AVI Depot. The Planning Committee is putting together a full day in June, trying to visit a couple layouts and hopefully S&S Ltd. I hope as many as possible will continue to participate in the activities of the second quarter. As well as the others. Also in June, is the Hutch train show off the top of my head, hope to see you there. We will be having a booth there, so we're gonna need help. Signups for the bbq, and the Hutch train show will be there at the May business meeting.

FROM THE ASSISTANT SUPERINTENDENT'S DESK

All of our lives we deal with things that require our attention no matter what. We often have children, pets, houseplants, gardens, lawns, and who knows what else. Those things we can't set aside until the mood strikes us again are everywhere. One of the things I like about model railroading is that we can set it aside and, by-and-large, it will be unchanged since we last worked on it. I am among the most ardent practitioners of that bad habit. It first happened after Junior High School when girls and cars started taking a greater importance in my life. The model railroading urge resurfaced after college and marriage when UNCLE SAM decided I should spend my military career in Colorado Springs, CO and I noticed the mountain roads we were coming to love were actually old railroad beds.

James H. Marlett
Assistant-Superintendent
Chisholm Trail Division
of NMRA

That's also when I fell hard for narrow gauge. I had an on-and-off affair with model railroading for many years, and sure enough, each time I was off, my railroad waited without complaint until the next time I was ready for it. My longest hiatus was when I rediscovered cars and drag racing and the railroad went idle again until Larry Gulick called wanting to know if I was interested in participating in a reinvigorated Chisholm Trail Division of NMRA. Shortly thereafter, we moved to a different house and my model railroad had to be part of that. So here I am. Except for the damage inflicted by kids and cats, my model railroad was just waiting for me to do something. It hadn't changed, but the model railroading world had. So reassembling my railroad in a different configuration and upgrading it to DCC is in progress. I'm not encouraging anyone to stop modeling, but if it does happen, just remember that the train won't die over the summer if you can't get to it. If you've taken a break, just hop back on that iron pony and ride.

Assistant Superintendent
Chisholm Trail Division

The 2017 Steel Mill Modeler's Meet August 13-16 2017

<http://www.smmsig.org/>

Rick Seyb
Chisholm Trail Division
of NMRA

The Steel Mill Modeler's Special Interest Group (SMMSIG) is an informal gathering of individuals with a common interest in industrial history, model railroading and creating scale models of the iron and steel industry. In addition to this website we share ideas and education on steel mill modeling through bulletins, the "Steel Mill Modelers Journal" and our annual meeting. We also provide clinic and educational support to the National Model Railroad Association, its affiliated regions and divisions as well as historical societies.

Dates and Location are fixed, other information is preliminary

The traditional format is registration, display and vendor setup on Sunday afternoon followed by a few clinics that evening. Monday will be a full day of presentations, vendor tables and fellowship. Tuesday will be devoted to carpool layout tours followed by the awards banquet. The meet wraps up with Wednesday morning's informal good - bye breakfast and annual business meeting.

Clinics:

The exact clinic schedule is still being developed. We plan on tapping a host of local modelers and veteran attendees to present fresh ideas and techniques. A few clinics specifically designed for those new to steel mill modeling will occur as we identify the number of first-time attendees. All topics will be specific to steel modeling.

Layout Tours:

Tuesday will be devoted to layout tours by carpool.

We are working on scheduling a layout operating session. The 2016 event was very successful and we would like to repeat the experience. Slots on the "operating crew" will be filled on a first registered basis, so register early.

Displays and Contests:

Attendees are encouraged to bring a steel related model(s) to display, even if it is only a single structure, locomotive or piece of rolling stock. Works in progress are welcome. Attendees will vote on the best displayed model to select the winner of the coveted Dean Freytag award. There is also a special photo category in the display contest that is designed for large models that can't be transported. All it takes to enter this category is photo(s) of your steel project. Judging is based on the quality of the modeling depicted and not on the artistry of the photograph.

Vendors:

One of the most popular attractions is the wealth of specialized steel modeling products offered in one place. Many are "basement" producers whose items aren't readily available in most hobby shops. We have a room dedicated just for the vendors.

All activities are tentative and subject to change!

Membership in the Steel Mill Modelers SIG is required to attend!
